Newspapers by ancestry
https://www.newspapers.com/image/992158503

Downloaded on Jan 30, 2024

BATH DAILY TIMES

VOL. 35 NO. 156. BATH, MAINE, THURSDAY EVENING, JULY 2, 1896. PRICE TWO CENTS

The Weather: Fair

The Ball Game. See page 4

THE COLD CHILLING WINDS OF NOVEMBER

Would perhaps be welcome during this warm spell, but, in their absence try our Ice Cream Soda, with CRUSHED FRUIT. At

LEONARD & MITCHELL

The Druggists.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

"TORQUAY"

Black Peters, Always readily matched.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL LINE —OF— NEW DINNER SETS,

Ever shown in Bath. The above can represents one of the many elegant patterns.

A. D. STETSON & SON.

TO LET—Cottages at Quaker Point, by the day or week; boats also. Also Gasoline launch for rock or double team of HENRY HOWARD, Bath.

LOST—On Brunswick road to Petersport by Gurney to Attaka, New Headlight, Gentleman's Companion, Pocket Book, Pocket Knife with double edge, bone with dark green silk plaited block cloth. Finder please leave at this office. Liberal reward. 2w27

TO LET—Cheap, Stall for team parties and horseshoer. C. CHENERY, at Chenery and street. 2w27

FOR SALE—A good cook stove and hood, at 1000 Washington street. 2w27

GRAND EXCURSION —TO— PORTLAND! —ON THE GLORIOUS— 4th By Steamer Sagadahoc

Under the auspices of the

FORWARD MOVEMENT

Steamer Sagadahoc will leave Kennebec Steamboat Co.'s wharf July 4th at 8.45 a. m., for a trip down the beautiful Kennebec river landing at Popham at 9.45 a. m., and will thence proceed through Casco Bay and about the islands to Portland where a stop will be made giving the excursionists an opportunity to view the city. We give a hearty invitation to all to join us on this delightful sail.

AN ORCHESTRA OF 9 PIECES

Will be on board and add much pleasure to the trip. Be sure to go and take your friends with you. Fish Chowder, Hot Coffee and Tea will be served on board.

FARES FOR ADULTS, ONLY 75 CENTS
CHILDREN 12 YEARS AND UNDER, 40cts

The rates for the excursion have been made very low in order that all may avail themselves of this unusual opportunity. Tickets will be on sale Wednesday and Friday, July 3 and 4, at office of Kennebec Steamboat Co., and on board steamer Saturday morning.

J. B. DRAKE, Pres. & Manager.

THE EASIEST RUNNING LAWN MOWER made is the Imperial High Wheel

Mower. Also Imperial low wheel, Philadelphia, Gilded and Columbia Lawn Mowers.

For sale by

SWANTON, JAMESON & CO

JACKSON—FARNHAM.

A Pretty House Wedding At the South End Where a Popular Teacher and a South End Belle Were United.

A very pretty home wedding took place last evening at the residence of James Farnham, the groom's father-in-law, at the corner of Washington and Shaw streets. The contracting parties were Miss Linda Switzer Farnham and Newell Gratz Jackson of Woolwich.

The wedding was strictly a family affair, only the relatives of the bride and groom being present.

The bride was dressed in a handsome blue silk, in white bow trimmings, with white slippers and gloves, and carried bride roses.

Miss Jessie Jackson, a sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, assisted by Miss Mary Stinson of this city.

Herbert Spingay was best man, and acted as usher with Mr. Farnham.

At precisely 8 o'clock, Miss Julia Jackson struck up the wedding march and six little girlhood boys with white ribbon led off, forming an aisle for the bridal party.

The ceremony performed by Rev. C. F. Burroughs of Wheeseal, took place under a large marriage bell and amidst a bower of flowers in one of the parlors.

The house was profusely decorated with cut flowers and potted and hanging plants. The presents were numerous and costly.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson left on the Pullman for a short wedding trip after which they will return to Wiscasset for the summer.

Mr. Jackson is well known in Bath as the popular and successful teacher of the Ninth Grade. Mrs. Jackson was a popular clerk at Conley & Crosby's and has hosts of friends in this city. The Times extends congratulations and hopes to welcome them back to this city next September.

Brick masons began work on the residence of Wm. D. Sewall this morning.

Sunday, July 5, boat to Boothbay Harbor and Islands, leaves Bath at 9 a. m., round trip. Leave Boothbay at 5.45 p. m., returning leave Boothbay at 2.45 p. m.

Mayor Bibber's residence presented a pretty appearance this afternoon when the card party occurred for the benefit of the Old Couples Home.

The old buildings in the Morse shipyard are being removed and preparations being made for erecting the buildings for the Hyde Windlass Company.

Saturday, July 4, excursion to Boothbay and the Islands, South Brisdol and Pemaquid. Fare 50 cts. to Boothbay and Islands and 75 cts. to South Bristol and Pemaquid.

Delegates from this city to the Democratic Convention in Chicago, will leave Bath on the early train tomorrow morning. A special train will leave Portland at 8.40, reaching Chicago Sunday morning at 8 o'clock.

The Elm St. Baptist church will observe the anniversary of its dedication July 4, leaving the Eastern Steamboat Co.'s wharf at 8.35 a. m., returning arrive at Bath at about 5 p. m. Fare, adults 50 cts., children 25 cts. round trip.

IVORY SOAP IT FLOATS

To retain the brilliancy of Ginghams, wash them only in luke warm water, in which a tablespoonful of salt and an equal quantity of Ivory Soap to each gallon of water, have been dissolved. Dry in the shade.

THE PROCTER & GAMBLE CO., CINTI.

HOSPITABLE ELMHURST.

Welcomes Still Another of the Nation's Defenders.

GENERAL NELSON A. MILES.

Gives a Brilliant Reception at the Home of Bath's Ideal Bachelor.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" Made Her Famous Throughout the World.

Of the many beautiful parties at Elmhurst, last night's was the finest of all. A reception was given from 9 to 12 by General and Mrs. T. W. Hyde in honor of the distinguished soldier Major General Nelson A. Miles, commander of the United States Army.

The extensive grounds were brilliantly illuminated with Japanese lanterns hung from the trees and above the walks, and presented a fairy scene.

As the Times stated yesterday the General and party including his wife and daughter, General and Mrs. Joseph Smith of Bangor, and General and Mrs. Dan Hall of Portland, passed the afternoon with Bath friends at Popham beach. On returning to this city they were met by the members of Company C. N. G. S. M., and the Brunswick band who escorted them to the Bath Iron Works where the band left them. The escort duty was carried out by the Andover Theological seminary, where Mrs. Stowe's husband, Professor Calvin E. Stowe and her son Henry, are buried.

In thanking Capt. Kimball of the Guards for his services, Gen. Miles said he appreciated very much the appearance of the members of the company.

Early in the evening the General and party were driven to Elmhurst, and during the evening were pleased to arrive in large numbers and soon the spacious mansion was alive with men and women, the latter making a charming picture in evening gowns.

Mrs. Hyde received in the parlors, Miss Hyde and Miss Miles received in the south parlor, and Miss Hyde, Miss Miles, Miss Edward and Arthur Hyde.

The lively strains of a band of music stationed at the rear of the mansion indexed many to this section of the house, and dancing was delightfully and gleefully begun for a time with the waltz and two step and dancing was indulged in by the younger set.

During the evening a delicious collation was served by caterers of Portland who served in the dining hall on the first floor. On a table in the former apartment were two large bouquets of Beauty roses.

People of this city were charmed with the commanding presence of Gen. Miles.

At the beginning of the war he left the counting room, where little more than a boy, for the field of battle as a volunteer.

He rose by marvelous promotions for gallantry and marked ability and at the age of 25 had reached the remarkable rank of brevet Major General, commanding from 25,000 to 40,000 men in active operations upon the Rappahannock. He was one of the generals of the civil war present each another case. His advancement was upon the recommendation of his superiors officers and due to gallantry and unsurpassed ability upon the field.

His honors were not won in the tent, in the saddle, or in planning campaigns far from the strife. Every promotion he won he won in leading his troops across the bloody field of battle.

He was four times wounded, three times seriously and once was borne from the field supposedly mortally wounded; but, as General Howard has said, he was not to succumb to mortal fatality. It has been his fortune to serve in the Civil War but his services have been almost equally distinguished since the Rebellion ended. He has been in command of Governor's Columbia, the Division of Missouri, the Department of the East and now is in command of the entire army of the United States.

He added to his brilliant reputation by defeating the fiendish Geronimo, the Apache chief, and his almost omniscient cousin Nana the President ever given a defender of the frontier. He has always been active against anarchy in this country, and in the Chicago strike the false symbol of the Confederacy.

Gen. Miles expressed himself as highly pleased with the entertainment received in the shipping city.

Mrs. Stowe was also born in Litchfield, Conn., and at an early age came to Hartford, where she resided until 1850, when, owing to her husband's appointment as professor in Bowdoin college, she removed to Brunswick, Me.

Mrs. Stowe has, since her husband's death, resided in Hartford, occasionally passing her winters in Florida, where she owned an extensive orange grove, Mrs. Stowe's poems were few in number. This is the most famous of them.

THE OTHER WORLD.

Is love stronger than death?
The waves beat on the shore;
Yet the great closing of an eye
May long be there.

Its gentle breezes fan our cheek
And round our worldly cares,
Its gentle voices whisper love,
And bid our spirits rise.

Sweet hearts around us throb and beat
After the world is gone;
Dear eyes that look into our own
With breakings almost heard.

The shores, earth, air and calm,
They have no power to break;
And thus we know not if them
Or utter or partake.

So this, so soft, so sweet they glide,
So near to press or touch,
They lull us gently into rest,
They melt into our dream.

And, in the hush of rest they bring,
We know and hear a pass
The hour of death may be.

To close the eye and close the ear,
To make the darkness light,
And gently steer in loving arms,
To waves from that to this—

Is more knowing if we wake or sleep,
Scarce asking where we are,
Or if we still can pray.
All sorrow and all care!

Fresh souls around us, watch us still,
Fresh souls to our relief,
Join our thoughts and our prayers,
With gentle helping gifts.

Let death between us be as naught,
A cloud and vanished dream,
Your joy be the reality,
Our suffering but the dream.

London, July 2.—The English papers this morning have a lengthy comment on the death of Harriet Beecher Stowe at Hartford yesterday.

A Lively Canoe.

Saco, Me., July 1.—The Republican canoe club this afternoon elected delegates to the county convention at Alfred July 20, proved to be one of the most disgraceful ever held in York county. A thousand men crazy from excitement, smashed settees to kindling wood, and fought each other, each calling for his own side.

The police were needed to restore order. Two factions strove to get the floor, and the chairman was overpowered and carried from the room, followed by the crowd.

In balloting for chairman, Deputy Sheriff Small had a personal encounter with John R. Stowe whom he tried to remove from the vicinity of the ballot box.

It was during this contest that the anti-Hurd men left the hall and selected a county delegation. They claim that they will ask for a convention will be called upon to send one or the other delegation.

Stomach Difficulty Relieved.

Turner, Me., May 18, 1896. "My stomach was in a very bad condition so that I could not eat without distress. Through the influence of my mother I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. She was troubled with heart trouble and Hood's Sarsaparilla helped her and I have derived great benefit from its use." Mrs. Geo. W. Doe, Howes corner. Hood's Pills cure indigestion, biliousness.

DEATH OF MRS. STOWE.

Three Paralytic Shocks Hastened the End of the Author,

Eighty-Five Years of Life Were Well Spent.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" Made Her Famous Throughout the World.

Hartford, July 2.—Mrs. Stowe died at noon yesterday, at her home here, without regaining consciousness. Up to Friday of last week her physical condition was about the same as it had been for the last two or three years, and the end was not thought to be near. She was wholly unexpected. The second fell bowed on Sunday, and on Monday evening Dr. Todd, which left her wholly helpless, and with no chance of living. She sank gradually away, as though into a deep sleep, by her bedside at the time of her death were her son Rev. Charles Stowe of Hartford, her two daughters, Miss and Harriet, her sister, Mrs. Isabel Beecher Hooker, and other relatives.

Mrs. Stowe's funeral will be held at her late home on Forest street, where her body will be taken to Andover. Mass. The burial will be in the cemetery connected with the Andover Theological seminary, where Mrs. Stowe's husband, Professor Calvin E. Stowe and her son Henry, are buried.

Mrs Harriet Elizabeth Beecher Stowe, daughter of Lyman Beecher, was born in Litchfield, Conn., June 14, 1812, and four years and when her mother died. At an early age she manifested a great eagerness for books, and read the young theological works of her father's library. She was also precocious early in that with which the poetry of a stray volume of the "Arabian Nights" or "Don Quixote" were devoured. As she grew older, she was known as an absentminded and moody young lady, and in her manners and habits, but a fine scholar. Her sister Catherine, Mrs. Gen. Hyde and Miss Miles received in the south parlor, assisted by Misses Edith John, Edward and Arthur Hyde.

The lively strains of a band of music stationed at the rear of the mansion indexed many to this section of the house, and dancing was delightfully and gleefully begun for a time with the waltz and two step and dancing was indulged in by the younger set.

During the evening a delicious collation was served by caterers of Portland who served in the dining hall on the first floor. On a table in the former apartment were two large bouquets of Beauty roses.

People of this city were charmed with the commanding presence of Gen. Miles.

At the beginning of the war he left the counting room, where little more than a boy, for the field of battle as a volunteer.

He rose by marvelous promotions for gallantry and marked ability and at the age of 25 had reached the remarkable rank of brevet Major General, commanding from 25,000 to 40,000 men in active operations upon the Rappahannock. He was one of the generals of the civil war present each another case. His advancement was upon the recommendation of his superiors officers and due to gallantry and unsurpassed ability upon the field.

His honors were not won in the tent, in the saddle, or in planning campaigns far from the strife. Every promotion he won he won in leading his troops across the bloody field of battle.

He was four times wounded, three times seriously and once was borne from the field supposedly mortally wounded; but, as General Howard has said, he was not to succumb to mortal fatality. It has been his fortune to serve in the Civil War but his services have been almost equally distinguished since the Rebellion ended. He has been in command of Governor's Columbia, the Division of Missouri, the Department of the East and now is in command of the entire army of the United States.

He added to his brilliant reputation by defeating the fiendish Geronimo, the Apache chief, and his almost omniscient cousin Nana the President ever given a defender of the frontier. He has always been active against anarchy in this country, and in the Chicago strike the false symbol of the Confederacy.

Gen. Miles expressed himself as highly pleased with the entertainment received in the shipping city.

Mrs. Stowe was also born in Litchfield, Conn., and at an early age came to Hartford, where she resided until 1850, when, owing to her husband's appointment as professor in Bowdoin college, she removed to Brunswick, Me.

Mrs. Stowe has, since her husband's death, resided in Hartford, occasionally passing her winters in Florida, where she owned an extensive orange grove. Mrs. Stowe's poems were few in number. This is the most famous of them.

THE OTHER WORLD.

Is love stronger than death?
The waves beat on the shore;
Yet the great closing of an eye
May long be there.

Its gentle breezes fan our cheek
And round our worldly cares,
Its gentle voices whisper love,
And bid our spirits rise.

Sweet hearts around us throb and beat
After the world is gone;
Dear eyes that look into our own
With breakings almost heard.

The shores, earth, air and calm,
They have no power to break;
And thus we know not if them
Or utter or partake.

So this, so soft, so sweet they glide,
So near to press or touch,
They lull us gently into rest,
They melt into our dream.

And, in the hush of rest they bring,
We know and hear and see
The hour of death may be.

To close the eye and close the ear,
To make the darkness light,
And gently steer in loving arms,
To waves from that to this—

Is more knowing if we wake or sleep,
Scarce asking where we are,
Or if we still can pray.
All sorrow and all care!

Fresh souls around us, watch us still,
Fresh souls to our relief,
Join our thoughts and our prayers,
With gentle helping gifts.

Let death between us be as naught,
A cloud and vanished dream,
Your joy be the reality,
Our suffering but the dream.

London, July 2.—The English papers this morning have a lengthy comment on the death of Harriet Beecher Stowe at Hartford yesterday.

A Lively Canoe.

Saco, Me., July 1.—The Republican canoe club this afternoon elected delegates to the county convention at Alfred July 20, proved to be one of the most disgraceful ever held in York county. A thousand men crazy from excitement, smashed settees to kindling wood, and fought each other, each calling for his own side.

The police were needed to restore order. Two factions strove to get the floor, and the chairman was overpowered and carried from the room, followed by the crowd.

In balloting for chairman, Deputy Sheriff Small had a personal encounter with John R. Stowe whom he tried to remove from the vicinity of the ballot box.

It was during this contest that the anti-Hurd men left the hall and selected a county delegation. They claim that they will ask for a convention will be called upon to send one or the other delegation.

IN OPEN CONVENTION.

Plan of Silverites For Nominating Temporary Chairman at Chicago.

Gold Men Showing No Disposition to Yield.

Conference of Silver Men and Executive Committee Not Very Satisfactory.

Chicago, July 1.—The silver delegates are far from satisfied with the result of the conference of their committee with Chairman Harrity and the members of the executive committee of the national Democratic committee yesterday. They had not counted much upon securing the temporary chairman, but they hoped to be allowed to practically secure the temporary chairman of the convention, but they had hoped to secure a more definite idea of the program of the administration than they were able to obtain in obtaining. The result of the conference was almost nil, and the silver men left the committee room feeling that their labors had been practically in vain. They were also dismayed with the postponement of the matter until so late a day, as they had hoped to get the support of any definite announcement from Mr. Harrity, they are inclined to the opinion that this was about the same as it had been determination, on the part of the national committee to select a gold-silver man for chairman, and to postpone the announcement of their decision until the very eve of the convention. This they regard as trifling with them to a degree. They are, therefore, disposed to proceed with their plans pretty much as if Mr. Harrity had not been consulted at all. The committee would name a gold chairman so as to be prepared for the emergency if this should prove to be the plan of the committee. This plan would be as hereinbefore outlined, to have a silver man agreed upon in advance by the silver men, and to have him elected temporary chairman over the choice of the committee.

Chairman Harrity insists that they acted in perfect good faith with the silver committee, and that, being only one member of the national committee, he could not give any further assurances than he did.

The silver people also feel that the assurances, in regard to contests, was very indefinite, and they find that it will be necessary for them to continue their organization work in order that it may be quite determined that the silver majority shall be deprived of an advantage that they certain to the majority.

The distribution of tickets, which has been going on for the past twenty-four hours in their entirety, but they do not see their way clear, as yet, to alter the situation in this respect.

It appears that several states, which will be represented in the convention by silver delegates, have advocates of the gold standard in their delegations, and it is probable that such delegations will receive 58 tickets. This arrangement will, it is said, give the gold men an undue advantage in the convention, but the silver men do not complain of it, however, in accordance with precedents, and there will probably be no effort to disturb it.

Upon the whole, the conference committee of silver men and the executive committee would have a gold chairman